Stay cool and out of the heat.....

Heat Stroke

What Is It and How Do I Get It? (From the Office of Emergency Management)

Heat Stroke results from having an abnormally elevated body temperature. Whenever our body works out, it naturally generates heat, which usually escapes through the skin or through the evaporation of sweat. However, when you work out in extreme heat or humidity (or when you work out at a high intensity outside and do not hydrate yourself), the heat your body produces may not be able to dissipate well enough and your body temperature rises, sometimes up to 106°F or higher.

Below are some tips from the Office of Emergency Management to help you keep cool and safe when the temperatures heat up.

Keep the curtains drawn during the day.

If you're not at home, keep the curtains drawn and the blinds down – this helps stop sunlight from getting in and heating up your house.

Wear light colors.

Light colors reflect light instead of absorbing it, like dark colors do. Consider applying a daily lotion that contains SPF 30 so you remain protected.

Eat strategically.

We all know that eating and drinking cold things can help cool us down. But you might be surprised to learn that eating very spicy foods can also help you chill out because they help induce sweating.

Don't use the oven to cook.

Using the oven can drastically increase the heat in your kitchen. Instead, plan for meals that only use the stove top, microwave or grill.

Keep bottles of water in your freezer.

A few bottles of frozen water can do a lot! Put one behind your neck when you're watching TV or in your bed with you when you sleep at night. If you're going out and about, bring it to drink – the water will melt slowly, leaving you with something extra cold to sip on.

Staying hydrated is one of the best ways to keep cool. If you're bored by regular water, try infusing it with fresh fruits, vegetables and herbs. Some refreshing combinations include cucumber with lemon and orange with mint. Infusing is easy – just slice up the elements you want to use for flavor, put them in a pitcher with some water and keep it in the fridge.

ORDINANCES

To read about a specific ordinance visit our website a Villageofbristol.org

With summer finally here, the Public Safety Dept. would like to remind you of a couple of important ordinances that have been an issue the past couple of years.

Ordinance 8-1-3 Destruction of Noxious Weeds: The Village would like to remind its property owners of their responsibility to destroy noxious weeds. Weeds such as Canadian Thistles and Creeping Jenny are examples of Noxious Weeds and must be destroyed by the property owner. .

Ordinance 8-1-4 Regulation of Length of Lawn and Grasses: All lots other than agriculture and open conservation zoned areas maintain their grassy areas so they do not exceed 8 inches in height because it adversely affects the public's health and safety.

Ordinance 15-1-2 Building Permits and Inspection: No building of any kind shall be moved within or into the Village and no new building or structure, or any part thereof, shall hereafter be erected, or ground broken for the same, or enlarged, altered, moved, demolished, razed or used within the Village, except as herein provided, until a permit therefore shall first have been obtained by the owner, or his/her agent, from the Building Inspector or his/her designee. Any work that is done prior to obtaining a permit will be charged triple the fees.

Ordinance 8-3-7 Illegal Dumping or Rummaging: It shall be unlawful for anyone to rummage through bulky waste and materials along the roadside unless acting with proper permission or authority.

(These bulk items help keep the cost of garbage service lower. Residents are asked if they see any scrapper other than John's Disposal coming through the neighborhood to write down the license plate number and vehicle description and call the non-emergency Sheriff's Department or our office).

Ordinance 7-1-11 Keeping of Chickens on Residential Parcels: The purpose of this Section is to provide standards for the keeping of a limited number of domesticated chickens and other poultry on residential parcels in the Village of Bristol on a non-commercial basis while limiting the potential adverse impacts on the surrounding neighborhood. The Village recognizes that the keeping of backyard chickens helps provide locally produced, affordable and sustainable food. In addition, the keeping of such chickens can also provide animal companionship, weed and insect control, and nitrogen-rich fertilizer. The Village of Bristol recognizes, however, that potential adverse impacts may result from the keeping of domesticated chickens as a result of odor, unsanitary waste removal and storage practices, noise, improper living conditions, non-confined poultry leaving the owner's property, and the attraction of predators, rodents or insects. This Section is intended to balance these interests. This Section is not intended to apply to indoor non-poultry birds kept as pets, including, but not limited to, parrots and parakeets, nor to the lawful transportation of fowl through the Village of Bristol.

See next page for the application on keeping fowl and rabbits.
